

Where Are They Now?

Working for Community Arts Project

ROSALIE WOODS

I am now in my second year on the Textile, Fashion and Fibre degree at Winchester College of Art – All that I learnt on the GNVQ and Access into Art courses at Mary Ward has been invaluable, providing such a great foundation in how to motivate myself and to research, develop and present my ideas. I am currently assisting artist Abigail Downer, my former tutor at Mary Ward, working on a Community Art Project in Southampton with residents on a deprived housing estate, which overlooks the re-development site.

The art project is part of a larger re-development programme to regenerate Southampton City's coastline

← Rosalie assisted artist, Abigail Downer, to create this 25 meter long Land Drawing of a Diatom, with local people. It will be recreated on a smaller scale in an exhibition called "Birds-eye View" at the Southampton Art Gallery from 9th March 2007

Regeneration through Education!
