Internal Quality Assurance Strategy

The IQA will arrange with the assessment team and the centre manager a programme of Internal Quality Assurance that is effective and complies with the relevant awarding body guidelines.

Candidate Interviews

Candidates will be interviewed before being enrolled on a qualification course to assess their suitability and level of support required. They may also be interviewed during the course to monitor progress and receive feedback.

Sampling of work

All assessors will be sampled on a regular basis as required by the awarding organisations. New assessors will be sampled more frequently in accordance with awarding bodies requirements. Every candidate group will be sampled to include newly started, mid-term and well established candidates.

Standardising Assessment

Standardisation meetings will be held, as appropriate. The meetings will be to support assessors so that they can share any issues or concerns and to ensure that fair judgements are made across the college. Minutes from meetings will be distributed to all staff concerned. Any action points from meetings to be implemented and monitored to ensure compliance.

Development and Support for Assessors

Assessors will be provided with an induction programme and given a set of standards for the award they are assessing. They will be allocated a suitable number of candidates and provided with the course location and any particular requirements. All assessment records will be monitored. Assessors will attend regular support meetings to discuss training or professional development requirements. In addition, assessors will attend standardisation meetings for the relevant award.

Managing Procedures and Documentation

All assessment records will be kept in secure storage at the centre. This will include assessment staff CVs and relevant certificates, records of personal development and IQA and EV/EQA records. Internal and external verification records will securely stored at the centre. Candidate files, assessment records and certificate claims will also be securely stored at the centre, in accordance with GDPR guidelines.
